The Smart Crown

Dear friends,
It gives an immense pleasure to invite you all for the intriguing scientific activity. In recent times, Zirconia is becoming one of the most chosen materials for pediatric dental crowns because of its extreme durability and its aesthetic effect. This scientific activity aims to shed light on different full coronal restorations in pediatric dental practice, which will include an overview of zirconia in dentistry, its physical & biological properties along with its advantages and disadvantages. The scientific programme will be accompanied by hands on course, which primarily focuses on case selection, clinical techniques & comparison of different brands of zirconia crown in relation to its design, cost & sizing, along with the discussion of clinical cases. We are looking forward for your participation. Once again-warm welcome & best wishes to all.

Regards,
